Red Cross To Aid Victims Of Carla

THE American Red Cross anticipates a record demand for disaster relief funds as the result of this week's hurricane centering in Texas, the organization's national president told 300 Red Cross workers last night.

Gen. Alfred W. Gruenthal spoke at the dinner highlighting the two-day Pennsylvania Red Cross Conference being held at Tamiment-in-the-Poconos.

He said it was impossible to determine yet how much money will be needed for the rehabilitation of needy hurricane victims, but said it certainly would force the Red Cross to spend more for disaster relief this year than it had spent in any one year during the last decade.

The Red Cross has distributed an average of $12,000,000 annually for the past 10 years. The money is raised through public contributions.

Worst in History

The Texas hurricane, described as the worst in the nation's history in point of damage, will be discussed more extensively at workshop sessions scheduled at Tamiment today.

Galveston County Judge Pete LaVelle estimated losses in his county alone at $111.2 million.

LaVelle estimated $18 million loss in the island city of Galveston, hit by the triple blows of the hurricane and two tornadoes.

Remainder of the loss, he said, will be in mainland areas of the county, largely in Texas City.

The porch of a Red Cross chapter house collapsed at Galveston Thursday while police were trying to control 1,000 hurricane victims seeking assistance. Fifteen persons were hospitalized.

The house had suffered some damage from a tornado kicked up by Carla Tuesday, a day after the hurricane passed inland.

Water still covered a large portion of Texas City, a major industrial center of 35,000 across from Galveston.

Polluted

The Texas City water system remained polluted, and the sanitation, gas, electric and telephone systems were out. No one was permitted in the city except heads of households and relief workers.

Receding waters revealed that the entire business district of Kemah, a town of 550 in Galveston County, washed away and all homes suffered damage.

Bob Wells, a claims service owner, estimated $10 million damage in Victoria County, southwest of Galveston. He estimated $4 million loss at Port Lavaca, $4 million in Cuero and $2 million in Port O'Connor, nearby community outside Victoria County.

Accepts Ike's Award

Major Gen. George J. Richards, Ret., accepted a citation awarded to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, former honorary national president of the Red Cross. He will in turn present the citation to Eisenhower at Gettysburg at a later date.

A similar citation was presented in honor of the late Dr. Matthew Shields, "father of first aid," with his son, Commander H. K. Shields accepting the award.

The conference will close this afternoon at the close of the annual luncheon meeting.

Reversal Saves Postal Hike Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A quick reverse by the House Rules Committee saved the $521-million postal rate increase bill Thursday night from almost certain death.

The legislation, a much-altered and scaled-down version of President Kennedy's proposal for ending the Post Office Department deficit, now goes to the House with fair chances of passage there and in the Senate.

The bill was in deep trouble Thursday when the Rules Committee refused to send it to the House under a closed or "gag" rule that would prevent it from being amended. Such a rule had been requested by the bill's sponsors, who had a backstage agreement with key senators.

AF Recovers Discoverer 30 Capsule

HICKAM AIR FORCE BASE, Hawaii (AP) — An Air Force C130B cargo plane snagged Discoverer No. 30's gold-plated space capsule Thursday as it parachuted toward the Pacific north of Hawaii.

The aerial catch was the fifth such recovery in the long Discoverer series. Three other capsules were retrieved from the sea after they fell outside the normal impact area, called the "ball park."

Thursday's successful recovery was the first for an Air Force four-engine turboprop C130B. Previous aerial catches were made by two-engine C119 Flying Boxcars.

Rusk, Gromyko To Hold Parley On Berlin In Gotham Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said Thursday there is informal agreement between East and West on preliminary negotiations looking to a warless solution of the Berlin crisis.

This news provided an at least mildly encouraging background for a Western foreign ministers' meeting opening here Thursday.

Hailing Moscow's announcement that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is ready to meet with Secretary of State Dean Rusk in New York next week, press officer Joseph W. Reap said, "We are pleased that we can probably find out what is in the Russian mind."

Where, When, What

The spokesman indicated Rusk would discuss with Gromyko the "where, when and what" aspects of an East-West session.

He described the Rusk-Gromyko meeting as exploratory, rather than actual negotiation on the German dispute. He said the United States still is sticking to its provision that actual negotiations will be undertaken only by the Western Allies acting together.

Reap said there was no formal diplomatic agreement between Moscow and the West for negotiations. But he saw agreement stemming from general public statements issued on both sides.

On the Soviet side, he referred to Premier Khrushchev's published remarks over the past couple of weeks. Khrushchev said last week he was ready for "businesslike talks."

There is agreement for negotiations "certainly among the Western powers, and there has been that the Soviet leader had not said before."

Friendly Opposition

The French oppose a too-eager approach to a conference with the Reds. U.S. British and West German strategists are inclined to get the Berlin dispute to the conference table as fast as possible lest it explode beyond control.

Rusk presently plans to go to New York Sunday evening for the Gromyko talks and the U.N. General Assembly session starting Tuesday. But French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville is expected to bypass the U.N. opening and return to Paris Sunday following the conclusion of the three-day Western foreign ministers' meeting.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western foreign ministers began strategy talks Thursday amid slightly brighter prospects for East-West negotiations looking toward resolving the Berlin crisis without war.

Representatives of the United States, Great Britain and France opened the three-day talks with a session lasting 2½ hours.

But participants eluded reporters when the meeting broke up and a State Department spokesman would not go beyond this terse report: "It was a general review of outstanding problems, including developments in Laos and the Congo and the current situation in Berlin."

Obituaries*Area Summer Resident 25 Years

DR. JOSEPH J. Rubane, a summer resident of Monroe County for more than 25 years, died recently in Short Hills, N.J. It was learned last night.

He was an orthopedic surgeon and a member of the staff of the Medical Center, Jersey City, N.J.

Dr. Rubane had resided during the summer months in his summer home at Pocono Manor since 1934.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in the St. Rose of Lima Roman Catholic Church, Short Hills, N.J.

He is survived by two sons, Joseph and John Rubane; one daughter, Mrs. Anna McElveen; and 10 grandchildren.

Holle funeral home, Maplewood, N.J., is in charge of arrangements.

Stanley Ritter, Little Gap, 6

STANLEY M. Ritter Jr., six years old, of Little Gap, died yesterday in the Allentown Hospital where he has been a patient for three weeks with third-degree burns on two-thirds of his body.

The young boy had been in critical condition since being hospitalized. He was the youngest of five children of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Ritter Sr.

The burns were the result of a can of antifreeze exploding after he and a friend, David Kleppinger, also six, found a pack of matches and went to a shed in back of the Ritter home to strike them.

The boys removed a gallon can of antifreeze from a shelf, punched holes in the can and struck a match. The explosion resulted.

Stanley was taken to the Palmer Hospital and later transferred to the Allentown Hospital. The Kleppinger lad was also burned but has since recovered.

The Ritter boy would have been a member of the second grade at Aquashicola School. He was a member of Egypt United Church of Christ.

In addition to his parents he is survived by two sisters, Mary Lou and Diane, both at home; two brothers, Ronald, Treichlers, and Tommy, stationed at Paris Island, S.C., with the U.S. Marines; maternal grandmother, Mrs. Maude Kleppinger, Treichlers, and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ritter, Walnupport, R.D. 1.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. in the James funeral home, Palmerston.

Friends and relatives may call at the funeral home today after 7 p.m.

By HELEN HARRITON

IF YOU are one who appreciates the beauties of nature, and likes to look at paintings which represent natural objects, or objects made by man which have come to seem natural, you will feel rewarded when you visit the present show at the Pocono Art Center, above the Penney Store in Stroudsburg, open from 2 to 4 p.m. weekdays, and Wednesday and Friday from 8 to 9 p.m.

The number registered thus far are: Brodheadsville — 21 Democrats; 9 Republicans; Mount Pocono — 15 D, 10 R; Barrett — 1 Non-Partisan, 30 D, 18 R; Smithfield — 14 D, 3 R.

This registration plus that which has been received in the courthouse brings the total to date to 295. In a break down there are 181 Democrats, 109 Republicans, 3 Non-Partisans and 2 Independents.

Those eligible to register are citizens who will be 21 on or before Nov. 7; those who have moved to another voting district; new residents who will move to another voting district; new residents who will have lived in Pennsylvania for one year by election day; women who have married and changed their names; newly naturalized citizens and any person who has not voted in the last two years.

Vacations Okayed For School Aides

BANGOR — The Bangor Area Joint School committee has approved a plan to give all school administrators a 20-day vacation during the summer months.

Also at the meeting of the board, plans were made to continue advance mathematics classes for senior high pupils on Saturday mornings under supervision of Mrs. Olive Hamm of the Mathematics Department.

A firm position on the admission of pupils to the elementary school was established. The board approved setting the mental age of four years for kindergarten and five for first grade, following testing by the school psychologist.

The board also authorized the purchase of eight additional tables and 50 chairs for the Washington School cafeteria.

No action was taken on recent discussion relative to purchasing milk for school cafeterias. Under the present plan, this matter is decided entirely by head cooks and school principals.

The request of the Portland National Bank to serve as an additional depository for jointure school funds was rejected by a vote of 10-4. Two Bangor banks, the First National and Merchant National, will continue to be the depository for district funds.

Parents may obtain more information about the troop by calling Flesher at HA 1-4859.

Red Shortages

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China admits extreme shortages in certain light industrial products and consumer goods. Peiping's official People's Daily said the shortages were due to a scarcity of agricultural raw materials.

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Trans World Airlines has opened an office here to expedite the interchange of passengers with the Polish airline Lot. TWA will exchange passengers bound for Eastern European points at Paris, London and Zurich.

Lesoine recently bought the Heller business and all the equipment.

Heller had been in business in the area for more than 25 years. He has moved to Arling-and green surroundings. With sympathy and delicacy she has painted the portraits of two boys, indicating both likeness and mood.

She has a painting of rose and white peonies, loosely arranged, and somewhat abstracted.

Charles Golden has a large and arresting painting of one of the most painted local "characters," John Lehar, whose great-grandfather was an early settler, showing John taking time out from cutting wood for a puff on his pipe and a moment of contemplation. He also has a linocut block print, where a man follows the strong black and white horses pulling his plow toward the darkening hills.

Contrasting in mood is the winter woods scene painted by Marcia Clapp, in which the subdued but rich tones of blues, reds, greens and browns are laid against the mountains, below the sunset glow.

Peter Heiden, well known hereabouts for his local landscapes, shows a scene of the Delaware flowing below a hillside tinted with summer sunset.

A painting by Natalie Bowen may at first glance seem to be an abstract, but it is a pastel of woods' fungus growth interestingly shown against grey bark. John Sobel, who teaches art at nearby Tamiment, shows a painting in oil of a pensive woman seated by an open window through which the movement of a city in construction appears, contrasts in mood developed in rich golden tones.

During this time, the adult classes worked on the principles of painting — the analysis of line and space, light and dark, and the action of color. In one lesson, the treatment of line was handled by the use of string, with some interesting results displayed.

but obvious.

Dear Abby: My problem is a boy friend who is a head shorter than I am. When we dance together I have to keep my chin up because if I put it down it looks as though I am trying to hide. But just try dancing with your chin up all evening, and you will get a pain in the neck. It is really painful, but I love to dance. I know it looks funny for a girl to be dancing with a boy when she is a head taller than he is, but that doesn't bother me so much as the stiff neck I get from it. Have you any advice?

STIFF NECK

Dear Stiff: If dancing with this boy is painful — give up dancing. If it is more painful to give up dancing, give up the boy.

Dear Abby: I would like a full-time sleep-in position in a motherless home. It must be a modern home in the best section of town. I would like the father to be between 40 and 50 (no older). And he must be 6 feet tall as I am a well-proportioned 5 ft. 8 in., and don't feel comfortable with short men around me. I am considered attractive, dress well and enjoy good music & dancing. I am in excellent health and 35.

Jury Files Report On County Needs

THE inspection report of Monroe County's Grand Jury was presented to the county commissioners at a meeting yesterday morning in the court house. The report covers all property owned by Monroe County.

In the county jail, the jury recommended complete painting, suitable bathing facilities for women, and a thorough cleaning and refinishing of the floor in the men's showers.

County Home Superintendent Charles Haney and his wife were complimented for their care of inmates, the use of the land and its products.

The jury members pointed out that "All this helps to cut down operating expenses of the home."

Other recommendations for the county home were painting the front steps and boiling of water for convenience to take care of bed patients on the second floor.

In the superintendent of schools building on Scott St., they noted that debris in the attic should be disposed of, and that the floor should be checked for safety.

The veterans' building, near the court house, was ordered to be thoroughly cleaned and painted on the inside.

In the Children's Aid quarters the jury recommended that a jackstone in the basement be checked for possible coal gas fumes leaks. Otherwise the building was declared in satisfactory condition.

At the court house they recommended renovation of the grand jury room and asked that the room be ventilated for comfort.

The treasurer's office needs repairing "badly" the report noted and Courtroom Number One is in need of painting.

The commissioners took no immediate action on the recommendations.

The legal heirs of the two children, Dagmar, 8, and Richard Udo, 5½, are Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Matos, of Delaware Water Gap.

Last Monday, after four years in the legal procedures, the final decree for the adoption of two West German orphans was approved by Monroe County Courts.

The legal heirs of the two children, Dagmar, 8, and Richard Udo, 5½, are Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Matos, of Delaware Water Gap. The children were born in Herne, Germany.

The Matos adopted the refugee tots in 1957 but the final approval wasn't reached until Judge Fred Davis, Monroe County Court, finalized the adoption on Monday. Assisting the Matos family in gaining the grant was Atty. James Scanlon of the Scanlon and Lewis law office.

At Gap School

The two children are presently attending grade school in Delaware Water Gap. Dagmar is in the third grade class of Mrs. Paul Morton and Richard is attending his first year of school with Mrs. Alyce Marshall as his teacher.

It was Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 28, 1957 — day the Matos family will never forget — that the little German girl and boy arrived at International Airport, N. Y. They were the beginning of a happy story that Matos and his wife had been planning for years.

A 65-year-old widow completed the labor of love and struggle with red tape as she brought nine orphans from West Germany for rendezvous with their new families.

She is Mrs. Adeline Herzog, formerly of 2600 Decatur Ave., Bronx, but now of California. She had worked with the Matos family when they were residing in New York to adopt the children.

Never Seen Before

The Matos family never had seen the children but as Mr. Matos said: "She (Mrs. Herzog) knew exactly what we wanted and has completed the job perfectly. They are just lovely children."

Mrs. Herzog had spent over 11 months in West Germany while adopting the children through the power of attorney given her by Matos and six other families, who for various reasons could not adopt children in New York.

The Bronx woman, who paid all the expenses, chose the seven families after screening several hundred requests for adoption.

Mrs. Herzog encountered numerous legal difficulties in her quest but was happy that everything turned out in good order.

In a closer inspection it was noted that the connection with that building was not included in the specifications for the intercom system.

The board voted to connect the building. The price for the work was listed as $75.

Businessmen Plan For Christmas

FINAL PLANS for the Christmas promotion were voted on last night at a meeting of the East Stroudsburg Businessmen's Association at Alter's Lodge, near Marcellus Creek.

The group announced they would add seven new strands of Christmas lights in the borough. The new lights will be placed on Washington Street, West to Trader's Hardware Store and on N. Courtland Street to Sun-Litho Inc.

At the close of the meeting the members stood in silent prayer in memory of Leon Koster, a former member of the association.

Local Moose Plan

Home In Stroud

FURTHER plans for the construction of a new building were discussed last night during a meeting of the Loyal Order of the Moose, Stroudsburg.

Never Seen Before

The Matos family never had seen the children but as Mr. Matos said: "She (Mrs. Herzog) knew exactly what we wanted and has completed the job perfectly. They are just lovely children."

Teachers hired were Mrs. Eleanor Heimbach at a salary of $5,800, and Mrs. Wilma Moore at a salary of $5,400.

Both have taught in the system in previous years and have agreed to teach for one year only.

In other action, Roger Acker resigned his teaching position.

The board will honor a number of guests, including members of the Legislature, for their contributions to the Pocono resort area and to the bureau.

The 1961 annual report of the PMVB operations will be given at the meeting.

To Connect Intercom

The committee was told by Carl Sebor, supervising principal, that it had been found on inspection of the school that the intercommunicating system installed had not been connected with the old shop building.

In a closer inspection it was noted that the connection with that building was not included in the specifications for the intercom system.

The board voted to connect the building. The price for the work was listed as $75.

Medical Unit Sponsoring Scholarships

DR. JOHN Martucci, president of the Monroe County Medical Society, disclosed yesterday that the state society will accept applications until Nov. 1 for four full-tuition, four-year medical school scholarships.

A minimum of four scholarships will be awarded to residents of Pennsylvania of high scholastic ability who will matriculate in an approved medical school in the United States in the Fall of 1962.

The scholarships are financed by a fund created solely by contributions of physician members of the society. No repayment is required by the scholarship recipients.

This will be the second year of the society scholarship programs.

Earlier this year scholarships were awarded to four young men who are presently attending medical school.

"Our purpose in having this program is to attract more qualified students to the medical profession," said Dr. Harold Gardner, secretary of the society's educational fund committee.

Essential To Politician

Another reason for forgetting about a tax cut: the record federal payroll. A congressional committee reports that in fiscal 1961 government civilian employees alone received $13,648,000,000, an alltime high.

The payroll outlay increased 8 percent over the preceding year's total of $12,637,000,000. And this despite a reduction in the average number of employees from 2,386,345 to 2,372,445.

But this commendable trend is not likely to be permanent. In July, the first month of the 1962 fiscal year, the number of federal workers shot up to 2,435,804, an increase of 16,700 over June.

Curiously enough, the Senate-House group issuing the report is called the Committee on Reduction of Non-essential Federal Expenditures.

Whoever put this label on the committee must have a cynical turn of mind. Every politician in Washington who has ever placed a worthy constituent on the federal payroll knows the job is "essential."

Holding Prices

The steel industry has been warned by 10 Democratic senators against raising prices this fall, when contract wages go up.

Orville Freeman, secretary of agriculture, has made public a letter attacking proposed bread price rises.

These are opening events in an Administration campaign to put the lid on prices, in the view of the magazine U.S. News & World Report.

For law the campaigners' principal equipment is the statutes against monopoly and conspiracy, when the big companies change their prices at the same time.

For economics there are hopes that more efficient machinery and bigger markets will cover most of the increasing costs.

For overall motive there is the possibility that a halt in the price rise will make it easier to slow down the pattern of wage increases. At least steady prices would take away some of the fuel feeding the fires under the pressures for more pay.

It seems to us the Administration has chosen two products in which pressure has some prospect of obtaining results. Competition of foreign steel has softened the industry push for higher prices.

Wheat is only a little fraction of bread cost, and the bakers' talk of a price rise is based on a support price change a year away.

If these two industries back away from higher price ideas, more Administration pressure on other fronts is to be expected, with increasing emphasis on the consumer in contrast to the producer. — (Memphis) Commercial Appeal.

Why Not Tell K?

I was sitting quietly of a Sunday morning, doing some reading and minding my own business, when my dog, Joe, got himself all excited. I came out to see what was worrying Joe whenupon I witnessed that a claque automobile had stopped down the road and that a young man and a boy were walking up the road to visit me.

Perhaps the automobile did not stop in front of my house through shyness or maybe its owner did not want me to know that he travelled about in a luxurious vehicle. Whatever the cause, the object of the visit was to convert me.

The visitor started to deliver an address to me on the subject of how the world was going to hell because of war; that great evil was being wrought by various bombs, etc., etc.

The visitor replied that "we" have representatives in 81 countries.

I said that I was not interested in 81 countries; that I had asked him why he did not go to Khrushchev to talk to him about the wickedness of the bomb. I said that there is no use telling me about it.

I cannot prevent Khrushchev from using bombs, but my visitor, who walks from house to house scaring Americans out of their wits, might go to Moscow to frighten Khrushchev.

He said that "we" are in Russia, witnessing to the Russian people. I told him that he is a liar; that no one can preach a doctrine in Russia which is forbidden by the government and the Communist Party. Nevertheless, he ought to try it because it is permissible to teach treasonable doctrines in the United States which is a free country.

The visitor replied that every man is entitled to his opinion.

This I denied. Not on my lawn, he isn't. The traitor gets no opportunity to spread treason among my trees, said I.

What you are doing is, in the circumstances of the times, treasonable. You may not know it, but you are serving Khrushchev in a period preceding a war.

A Communist would be arrested for doing what you are doing as you clothe your treachery in religious foliage, you manage to get away with it. But not on my lawn.

Fortunately, he left at that moment. In my younger days, I might have given him an opportunity to prove the courage of his convictions. As it is, he proclaimed that he is no coward; that he has registered for the draft.

As I do not know who he is, I have no way of discovering whether he has or has not, and that does not matter. Most of us have registered for one of the drafts and some have been called and others have not been.

Khrushchev is counting upon the unwillingness of Americans to go to war. Even on the television show for the selection of Miss America, one of the girls in reply to an extraordinarily stupid question, delivered a pacifistic Peace Corps speech which must have warmed Khrushchev's heart if he heard it or about it.

The two then turned innocently to the elderly native and inquired, "Well, old timer, did you ever hear of any dogs as smart as ours?"

"Just one," nodded the unsmiling native. "My old collie Shep. He runs the store where your dogs trade."

A couple of city slickers, on a hunting trip in Wisconsin, noticed that an elderly native was listening intently to their conversation in a village pub.

"I own a settler," boasted one city chap, "who has such a nose that when I send him to the store for eggs, he refuses to accept any that aren't

"My cocker is smarter than that," scoffed his friend. "I sent him out for cigars, and he flatly refused any but my favorite brand. Furthermore, he won't smoke any till he gets home and I light one for him."

The two then turned innocently to the elderly native and inquired, "Well, old timer, did you ever hear of any dogs as smart as ours?"

"Just one," nodded the unsmiling native. "My old collie Shep. He runs the store where your dogs trade."

But that is no worse than a conversation with a very conservative lady who hates Khrushchev and Communism, but who assured me that I could not mean that there was no other solution for our difficulties with Soviet Russia than a war.

"Do you mean a nuclear war?" she asked.

I asked her what other kind of war she expects Khrushchev to make against us. Does she believe that he will make a war which is an invitation to defeat?

She sighed but I am sure, she believed, as so many do, that after all Khrushchev is a human being and he could not do so evil a deed. So was Genghis Khan a human being. So was Hitler.

"AMERICAN INDIAN PICTOGRAPH" — Courtesy Dallas Mu Kirkland Museum of Fine Arts, Dallas, Texas. It's owned by Mrs. Forrest

Art Of Seeing

By Marcia Clapp

HAVE you ever searched for Indian reliefs in the Poconos? Did you experience the excitement of finding a perfect arrowhead or tomahawk?

This search involves very sharp eyes to learn to identify the type of stones and shapes as well as color of the pottery. Certainly whoever found those pictographs in Panther Cave on the Seminole River had very good eyes. On both sides of the Pecos in the canyons made by many rivers running into the Rio Grande there are hundreds of paintings in color on the cave walls or shelters made by Indians many centuries ago.

These paintings are among the earliest found in America and are incised on the rock wall surface illustrating the life of these nomadic tribesmen. The horse, bison, hunters with bows and arrows are primitively drawn in profile or frontal view. There is no regard for normal scale or proportions and these symbols often overlap and are spaced at random giving the effect of a master mural of the 20th century.

This particular example is a huge painting measuring more than 80 feet in length and more than 15 feet high. These pen and wash drawings were made by Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Kirkland who worked between 1934 and 1941 copying these in color carefully reproducing them by accurate scale. The Dallas Museum of Fine Arts in Dallas, Texas, has granted permission to reproduce these paintings.

A careful study of the symbols will reveal a long snake, fish, birds, arrows, bows, feathers, and many figures both large and small scattered into a fascinating pattern. In fact, there are a number of forms which resemble men flying in space like jets with dotted lines suggesting speed.

The American Indian has created a precious heritage which is a constant source of inspiration to the present day designers. Many contemporary painters have been influenced by these primitive artists who spoke in symbols by distilling natural forms into bold and brief designs.

Dr. Wimer Speaks At Lions Meet

DR. KURT WIMER, of the East Stroudsburg State College faculty, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Stroudsburg Lions Club held Tuesday in the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

The club termed Dr. Wimer one of the great leaders in educational circles and expressed genuine pleasure in his talk.

Dr. Wimer told how the many problems of today are rooted deep in political warfare of World War I and in later years.

Doctrine has extended an invitation to every member of the parish to participate in some phase of its work. Its chief aim is education . . . Catholic education for adults and youth, every activity leads the individual to a richer understanding and greater appreciation of the truth of His social life.

Parent-educators are busily engaged in the local area calling on the homes of those who have newborn babies, these visitors carry with them leaflets which explains to the parents the "Rite of Baptism" each parent is also presented with a medal for the new baby.

Follow up visits continue until the child enters school. Materials supplied through this phase of Confraternity work offers parents of young children guidance in the religious and moral education.

The whole Confraternity, or Catechetical theme, stresses "the basic importance of the family unit as the bulwark of society and the beacon which will light the way to eventual salvation and again restored in Christ."

Catechetical Sunday At St. Matthew's Church

CATECHETICAL Sunday will be observed in St. Matthew's Parish on Sunday, Sept. 17. The local observance is in conjunction with the Diocese of Scranton and other archdioceses and dioceses throughout the United States.

The purpose of Catechetical Sunday is to focus attention on the wide and varied program which the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine touches upon in every phase of Catholic life and Christian education within the confines of each parish and throughout the diocese and nation as a whole.

The Confraternity of Christian Doctrine in St. Matthew's parish plans to present to each member of the parish a means through which he or she may individually promote the work of the CCD through various phases of Catholic action and education.

The local confraternity unit begins its sixth year within the Parish. It will offer the opportunity to engage in the various activities of Catholic activity.

Catechetical lay-teachers of the CCD will conduct a weekly high school of religion, starting on Monday night at 7:15 p.m. in St. Matthew's School.

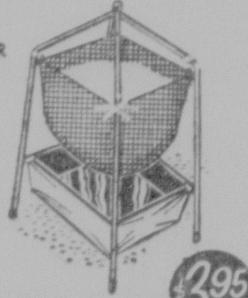

Discussion clubs for adults (for ages late teens to adult) will renew weekly sessions throughout the parish before the end of the month. More than 100 adults participated in these discussions during the last term and it is expected that a great growth will

West Chester President Fired

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—

Harry Symons, president of the board of trustees at West Chester

State College, has announced

it had fired the college president, Dr. T. Noel Stern, 48.

Symons, a professor at Ursinus

College, stated:

"The board, acting on what it considers to be the best interests of the college, has notified Dr.

Stern that his services as president are terminated immediately.

"The board has expressed a unanimous lack of confidence in the administrative performance by the president, which has culminated in this particular action."

Earl F. Sykes was named acting president until further notice.

Earlier, Dr. Stern said Symons

and Mrs. Alice Chambers of West

Chester, board secretary, had no-

ified him he would be dismissed

if he did not resign. The trustees had made no charges, he added.

Stern had been in office one year.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

A secret is a mighty hard thing to keep that way around here which is why the board members and workers of the Planned Parenthood Clinic were so pleased with themselves yesterday when they really pulled it off.

They had deliberately been very casual about talking about the anniversary luncheon to Dr. Charlotte Jordan—so casual that when she and Dr. Claus were late, everybody started having heart failure. Things got much gay after she was safely there—and screens of people kept her from seeing the tables too closely until the right moment.

Those tables were so super special that she might have suspected Helen Kingsley had planned them in a color scheme of pink and green with pink roses, and watermelon baskets full of fresh fruit as centerpieces. Then Dr. Mary Hunsicker got the idea of pink and green napkins to match and promptly whipped up 30 of them, each pink napkin appliqued with a green candle. Although she admits she had to call on Helen Kingsley for help in hemming them late the night before.

Anyway it was a pretty party. Why, they even had pink-covered, rose entwined cash boxes for luncheon and gift fees—usually such an awkward part of testimonial dinners.

Anyway Dr. Charlotte walked right into it, and everybody sat around beaming as fondly as parents when the children see the Christmas tree. And there was that one infallible sign that proves when a guest of honor is really and truly surprised: Dr. Charlotte didn't have a handkerchief!

Crutches: that's what some of the Skittles will be needing today after the first bowling of the season—as well as eying towels. The crutches because bowling doesn't use the same muscles as golf—or even housecleaning—the eying towels because last year's averages took a beating, particularly after their "punch lunch."

Actually, things are getting off to a gay beginning all around and catching up on the news of what has happened to people this summer could be a volume in itself.

Sciota Rebekahs

Saylorburg—The first meeting of the Fall for the Sciota Rebekah Lodge will be held in the Saylorburg firehall on Monday night at 8 p.m. Noble Grand Eunice Fenner has urged all members to attend.

Silver Anniversary Tribute To Dr. Charlotte Jordan At Parenthood Luncheon

For Dr. Charlotte Jordan the anniversary of the Planned Parenthood Clinic which she was instrumental in organizing 25 years ago, was another item on a busy calendar.

For the officers, board members and clinic volunteers who had planned it as a surprise testimonial for Dr. Jordan herself, yesterday was a time of suspense until she really arrived at the the firm foundation of the Planned Parenthood movement in the United States. Our sincere congratulations to Dr. Jordan, the board and the volunteers for 25 years of service to their community in this vital and important field."

Mrs. R. Frederick Jones, president, paid a brief but moving tribute to the "love, wise council, and unstinting gift of self" with which Dr. Jordan had inspired the clinic and its workers throughout the years. Dr. Mary Hunsicker, who has worked with Dr. Jordan in the clinic, presented the gift from the group—a gold bracelet and charm engraved with her monogram on one side and "25 Years Service Planned Parenthood" on the other.

Also at the head table were Rev. Thomas Shoemaker, who gave the invocation; Mrs. A. Greenwald Gearhart, first president of Planned Parenthood; Dr. Claus Jordan and Mrs. John Kingsley, co-chairman with Dr. Hunsicker, of the luncheon.

Mrs. Jones read to the group a telegram of congratulations from the national president of Planned Parenthood, Inc., Cass Canfield:

"It has been the untiring efforts of dedicated community workers for Planned Parenthood, especially Dr. Charlotte Jordan, which has strengthened

Fall Activities Outlined By St. Mary's Guild

At the opening luncheon of St. Mary's Guild of Christ Episcopal Church at Mountain Lake House Fall activities were outlined at the business meeting with Mrs. William E. Andrew presiding.

A report on all activities of the guild was read by Mrs. Harvey Pullen, secretary.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1961
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Replace worn-out routine with refreshing new methods. You need an outlet for your store of knowledge. Try to indulge a period of ease, quiet—preferably after a meal.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Swing along with positive approach, cheery attitude. Thus you will dispel the feeling of being a quiet, unassuming dull "business as usual" feeling.

Exercise your grand memory.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Concentrate on important tasks first.

Your versatile mind should develop a winning plan so it gives it free rein.

Look to help from loved ones, including associates. All goes common goal.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—At length you have been on a pedestrian swaying from one extreme to another. A same, middle-of-the-road is called for. Inconsistency of purpose is a move that would lead to higher position.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—

Friendly and amiable, you are your true self. Control impulsive-

Particularly favored: Physicians, nurses, actors, musicians, experts,

florists, nurserymen, road-builders, salesmen.

August 24 to September 22 (Virgo)—Use your experience, reasoning, tact, good judgment and swiftness that will satisfy day's demands. Modify schedule to cope with varying conditions. As always,

you are your own best judge.

September 23 to October 22 (Libra)—Your planet, Venus, does not play favorites, but you are about as good along right path to health objectives. Especially especially in choice of companions this weekend.

October 23 to November 22 (Scorpio)—A spot for your ingenuity, unusual and intimid. Try to brighten an old style or method. Your reasoning plus intuition should keep you briskly ahead.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Strongly favorable

Judgments promote keen judgment, prompt and action all need now. So no excuses! Get in there and pitch, with your winning smile.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—A run of three extra special planetary topnotch days urge your insight, precision and handiness. For you, can advance with subtlety, but you don't let deceit creep in.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—You are advised to retrench a bit to study situations, people's aims. You may be doing well, but may need a change or two due to others' tactics. KEEP your democratic outlook.

February 20 to March 18 (Pisces)—

Learn from what you must do; will you act quickly or slower, or surer. In everyday matters, don't dash, but don't make errors. Judgments are important in all.

YOU, ROMA, TOSCA are among the signs of the Zodiac. You gain more through intelligent observations, sparked with interesting remarks. You can be sharp and critical. Are popular, and not alone with family. Outsiders look to you for advice, and you are more than willing to assist. Are responsible. An executive position can keep steady keel will be normal, fair.

Children are well educated, can understand, but can become too imaginative, extreme, too. Hold that same middle ground, though.

Friends grow older; take proper diet, exercise. Nerves can cause "sickness." Birthdays of

At Memorial Field

Bangor Sends Unknown Team Against Trojans

By ARMON WILLIAMS
Daily Record
Sports Writer

BANGOR High's football Slatters will take the field tonight at 8, listed by their coach as an unknown number.

This is the position taken by head coach David "Dakey" Pritchard, Slater mentor as he surveyed the possibilities of his 1961 edition against Parkland High on the Bangor Field.

It will be the opener for the Slatters but the opposition, Parkland, has already one game under its belt, losing to Emmaus last Saturday 14-0.

Pritchard indicated that Parkland is a stronger team this year than they were in 1960, when the Slatters took their measure also in the opener for the Slatters, 31-6.

Only five lettermen of consistent varsity experience are returning this year and that has evoked many problems for the Slatters. It is known that the Trojans have a fast backfield and a strong line with at least nine lettermen in the starting array. New faces will appear in many of the Slater starting assignments, some from last year's second eleven, while others up from a strong Parkland Varsity eleven are making their presence felt.

Chief Worries

One of the chief worries that Bangor coaches have been pondering, is the matter of quarterback, with the loss of Bob Dowe through graduation.

Two boys, who had very limited varsity experience and played most of 1960 with the Jayvees, are being called upon to start the offensive fires for the Maroon. They are Brian La-Bar, 165 pound junior and also Terry Wildrick, 155 pound junior. Both pass with a fair degree of accuracy, but in scrimmages sessions have not shown to coaching satisfaction, what Pritchard and his aides feel, both of these boys can do.

It will be the "under fire" question that will have to be answered. It looks now as if, Ron Bet, 190 pound fullback, an understudy of Phil Falcone, last season, has the inside track on that starting post. The starting halfbacks will be veteran Leo Reimer, who was the 1960 offensive spark-plug and Bill Yeager, a trackman and junior varsity starter last year or Danny Caracio, a halfback with last year's second unit.

New End Men

The line will probably show Carmen Commande and David Longor, both second string ends last year taking over for the graduated Dick Shoemaker and Barry Warwick. At tackles, Bill Holland, 226 pound hefty, and a veteran of last year will definitely start at the one post, while the other tackle will be either Terry Brodt, 196 pound junior of last year's second unit or Frankie Holland a brother of Bill, 190 pounds, up from last year's Jayvees, who has shown a great desire to get in and mix up things at his own pleasure.

Guards will find veterans

Tony DeCesare the light man on the line at 160 holding down the left side while Gary Vough, one of the fast men of the squad at 190 pounds, getting the call again on the right side.

Both of these boys are strong and very agile and figure strongly in the Pritchard type of offense. Center will be veteran Denny Holland, at 200 pounds, bigger, stronger and more aggressive than in 1960, ready to anchor the line.

Sure to see action are Ned Oyer and Tony Priori, ends; Charlie Keenbone, tackle; Monk Parsons, Dick Pizzotto, Dick Sherry, Heard, all backs making their first varsity debut.

Hutchison won the low pro title with 278, with Tisio second, 288. Hutchison, who rarely plays in tournaments, had rounds of 50-70-69-69 and Tisio fired 70-75-78-72.

The team winners on a daily basis were: Net: Monday—Saucon Valley, 62; Tuesday, Clifton Park, Clifton Park, Md., Wednesday, Hamilton C. C., Hamilton, Canada, 61 and Thursday, Bonnie View, 60.

Some 20 teams took part in the four-day event, which wound up the Shawnee competitive golf season.

Saucon Wins Festival Golf At Shawnee

SAUCON Valley Country Club of Bethlehem, captured net honors and Bonnie View C. C., Baltimore won the gross division in the Festival of Golf, which closed Thursday at Shawnee.

The Saucon team, captained by pro Ralph Hutchison, put together rounds of 62-66-62-61-251, while Bonnie View and its Cosmic Tisio, had rounds of 67-67-63-264.

Hutchison won the low pro title with 278, with Tisio second, 288. Hutchison, who rarely plays in tournaments, had rounds of 50-70-69-69 and Tisio fired 70-75-78-72.

The team winners on a daily basis were: Net: Monday—Saucon Valley, 62; Tuesday, Clifton Park, Clifton Park, Md., Wednesday, Hamilton C. C., Hamilton, Canada, 61 and Thursday, Bonnie View, 60.

Some 20 teams took part in the four-day event, which wound up the Shawnee competitive golf season.

Yankee Stick Squad Meets British Club

THE ENGLISH touring team arrived at Pocono Hockey camp today and will meet two United States teams, one on Saturday, Sept. 16, at 3:00 p.m., and the other on Sunday, Sept. 17, at 1:30 p.m. according to Miss Constance Applebee, Camp Director.

The Touring Team's record is 3-2, having beaten the Northeast, New York and Long Island Associations for three victories in a row, they have lost to the United States squad twice.

Captain Margaret Potts of Leicestershire feels that the team has been playing well and look forward to those two days of matches at the famous camp, founded by Miss Applebee, who introduced hockey to America.

Bids Received For Dam On Taylor Creek

FIVE bids were received for the construction of a dam on Taylor Creek in the Greene-Dreher Watershed by the Pike County Commissioners at their regular meeting this week.

Low bid was received from C. Davis, Inc., of Bridgeport, Pa., in the amount of $366,440.82.

Other bidders were J. Beers, Bangor, $381,685.90; Central Pa. Quarry Stripping Construction Co., $447,000.72; Gillen Construction Co. Inc., Carbondale, $485,608.32; and Hugh Boyd, Inc., Conshohocken, Pa., $440,430.00.

When bids on the project were first requested by the commissioners on July 17, only one bid from Hugh Boyd, Inc. was received. It amounted to $518,484.48.

The low bid will now be forwarded to the Soil Conservation Service, Harrisburg, for their approval or disapproval.

Wooddale

Mrs. Max Hess
Phone HA 1-7257

MR. AND MRS. Andrew Mermon and daughters, Carolyn and Katherine, and her mother, of Lehighton, called on Mr. and Mrs. Chester Van Vliet.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Stackhouse and son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Stackhouse, of Hellertown, spent the weekend in their cabin on Wooddale Road. They are having a well drilled.

Mrs. Melvin Bush and children, Marie, Donna and Kathy, and Mrs. George Lescine spent a day in Scranton.

Recent callers on Mr. and Mrs. Chester Adams were her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Seese and Albert Jr., of Cresco; her brother, Glenn Cramer and children Bruce and Elaine, of Stroudsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. William Peterson, of Hicksville, Long Island, N. Y., vacationing at Narrowsburg, N. Y., motored to Wooddale and visited a number of their one-time neighbors. Mrs. Peterson is the former Miss Caroline Mayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mayer, of East Nassau, N. Y., who owned a cottage at Wooddale for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson were celebrating their 10th wedding anniversary. They have a son, Robert 8, and a daughter, Lisa 4, who are with their grandparents during their parents' absence.
